

Become an Ambassador

The Victoria Cohen Eye Cancer Charitable Trust is looking for Ambassadors to help raise awareness of eye cancer and the charity. The VCECCT provides scholarships to support aspiring ocular oncologists through their fellowship.

Eye cancer is a global disease and the aim is to have an Ambassador in every region. The charity is looking to appoint Ambassadors for:

- Africa
- Asia
- Australasia (filled)
- Europe (filled)
- Middle East (filled)
- North America
- South America
- UK

“ I’m an Ambassador because I want to help others affected by ocular melanoma. ”

Georgia Hall, Ambassador – Australasia

The Ambassador Committee meets online two or three times per year to share ideas, initiatives and successes. Ambassadors are likely to have first-hand experience of eye cancer, either as a patient or as someone who has been closely affected by the disease. You should be passionate about trying to help others affected by eye cancer.

To find out more visit www.vcecct.org
email info@vcecct.org

Victoria Cohen
EYE CANCER CHARITABLE TRUST

Saving lives, eyes and vision
through education